Objectives - After Attending This Program You Should Be Able To

1. Analyze the phenomenological nature of anxiety and mood disorders to identify how untreated symptoms contribute to chronic emotional suffering and functional impairment.
2. Select and adapt specific DBT skills from the five core modules (Mindfulness, Distress Tolerance, Emotion Regulation, Interpersonal Effectiveness, and Walking the Middle Path) for application in the treatment of anxiety and mood-related clinical presentations.
3. Utilize DBT-based motivational strategies, including commitment-strengthening techniques and chain analysis, to increase client engagement in replacing maladaptive behaviors with skillful alternatives.
4. Demonstrate clinical techniques to help clients reduce emotional vulnerability and physiological reactivity while systematically increasing the frequency of positive emotional experiences.
5. Implement DBT skills to target and reduce behavioral avoidance (e.g., "Opposite Action") and facilitate behavioral activation in clients experiencing depressive or anxious symptoms.
6. Evaluate methods for increasing cognitive flexibility through the application of dialectical thinking to reduce the rigid, maladaptive cognitions that maintain mood and anxiety disorders.
7. Apply specific physiological regulation strategies (e.g., TIPP skills and Paced Breathing) to address the somatic and autonomic arousal symptoms associated with anxiety and mood dysregulation.
8. Teach interpersonal effectiveness scripts (e.g., DEAR MAN, GIVE, and FAST) designed to enhance social support networks and mitigate the clinical impact of social isolation.
9. Synthesize case conceptualizations from varied client presentations to determine how to tailor and individualize DBT skills training to meet unique diagnostic needs.
